

Nobel Lectures: From the Literature Laureates, 1986 to 2006

Twenty-one of the worlds greatest writers offer a liberating message about the power of language (Bloomsbury Review) From the political to the aesthetic, Nobel Lectures collects the words of a quarter-century of literature laureates, offering a glimpse into the inspirations, motivations, and passionately held beliefs of some of the greatest minds in the world of literature. Literature laureates from England, China, France, Austria, South Africa, Egypt, Hungary, Trinidad, Germany, Portugal, Italy, Poland, Ireland, Japan, Saint Lucia, Mexico, Spain, Russia, Nigeria, Turkey, and the former Soviet Union offer their meditations on imagination and the process of writing along with keen discussions of global affairs, geography and colonialism, and cultural change in a collection where the force of their political opinions is what truly distinguishes them (New York). From Harold Pinters passionate lecture on the nature of truth in art and politics to J.M. Coetzees allegorical journey through the mysteries of the creative process, from Toni Morrisons essay on the link between language and oppression to Orhan Pamuks tender memories of the influence of his father, each of the pieces whether the laureate writes poetry, drama, or prose is a testament to the power of literature to touch us and, every so often, to change the world. Includes the following laureates: Orhan Pamuk Harold Pinter Elfriede Jelinek J.M. Coetzee Imre Kertesz V.S. Naipaul Gao Xingjian Gunter Grass Jose Saramago Dario Fo Wislawa Szymborska Seamus Heaney Kenzaburo Oe Toni Morrison Derek Walcott Nadine Gordimer Octavio Paz Camilo Jose Cela Naguib Mahfouz Joseph Brodsky Wole Soyinka
